Edmodo Accounts

A friend sent a link to a new tech tool for our school. I looked it over, and I like it a lot. Edmodo is a private version of Facebook just for schools. There is much more security in place to keep our students safe. Only teachers, parents and students of the school are allowed in, and it is by special invitation code only sent from the school. I really look forward to seeing how this progresses.

"Edmodo provides a safe and easy way for your class to connect and collaborate, share content, and access homework, grades and school notices. Our goal is to help educators harness the power of social media to customize the classroom for each and every learner."

The site is www.edmodo.com and all students, parents and staff will be receive an email invitation this week.

Unanimous Uniforms

The vote by the students was unanimous. They want uniforms. The color vote however, was a little less unanimous. We would like to keep up our Brite theme intact. Finding uniform shirts in anything other than the standard navy, burgundy and hunter green has been challenging. Wal-mart seems to have the best selection at the best prices so far. For $6 per shirt, they have white, purple and orange. The girls would like a deep pink color, so we may have to do a RIT Dye day?

I will find a company to embroider badges that we can sew onto the shirts that we purchase now.

Uniform will be worn Monday -Thursday and Fridays will be Free days the First Friday of the month, and jeans and school-T the remaining Fridays and also on Field Trips. Homeschoolers that attend Field Trips with the school will be required to wear a School-T as well. For unity, fun and most importantly- safety.

Uniform: White or color polo shirt. Tan or Black slacks-shorts-skorts-jumpers allowed. Shorts/skirts must be longer than bottom of fingers along leg.

Appropriate footwear required. No high-heals. Don't forget to send an extra pair of clothes, as sometimes learning gets messy. During warmer months, you may send a bathing suit too as we love to play in the water on the playground outside.

This policy may be modified slightly during the semester.
